

Postponement of the Forces Equine Games to 2021

The organisers of the Forces Equine Games today announce the postponement of the staging of the Games which had been due to take place in September 2020.

This is hugely disappointing for all those who have been working not only to make this concept happen with the important work of raising funds to support Emergency Services mental health.

Clearly, the current situation is unprecedented as the country grapples with a global pandemic of COVID-19 and public health is now the number one priority. We also have to be mindful that Emergency Services personnel will be at the forefront of the efforts to contain this virus and that the Games are an unnecessary distraction at this time.

Planning now begins for the 2021 Games and regular updates will be provided through our website and social media. We remain totally committed to our goal of raising funds to support the treatment of mental health issues across all the Emergency Services.

In these exceptional times, we hope you stay fit and stay well and, as always, continue to support one another and the communities that you serve so selflessly.
